DUALA, GOVERNMENT SEAT OF GERMAN EQUATORIAL AFRICA GIVES IN UNCONDITIONALLY

Official Report Says Operations of His Majesty's Naval Forces on the West Coast of Africa Have Resulted in Capital Kamunur Surrendering Without Terms.

BULLETIN—London, Sept. 28.—(5:15 p.m.)—It was officially announced in London this afternoon that Duala, the official seat of the government of the German colony of Kamunur, German Equatorial Africa, had surrendered to a British force.

London, Sept. 28.—The official press bureau this afternoon issued the following:

"Operations of His Majesty's naval forces on the west coast of Africa have resulted in the unconditional surrender of Duala, the capital of Kamunur and of Bonaberi, to an Anglo-French force."

DESPERATE EFFORT DRIVE BACK ENEMY IS WITHOUT AVAIL

APPREHENSION IS BETRAYED FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT

Both Sides Determined to fight Issue to Definite Conclusion.

LIMIT HUMAN ENDURANCE NOW IS ALMOST REACHED

Victory for the Side That Can Bring Forward Absolutely Fresh Men.

London, Sept. 28.—The correspondence of the Times quotes the French general as follows:

"The great effort on the part of the allies to drive back the right wing of the German army continues without intermission. But the British are determined to fight the issue to a definite conclusion in the northeast of France and to ignore for the time being Alsace Lorraine."

In the fortified center both sides are too strongly entrenched to allow any great offensive movement on the part of either toward the left wing. If the German right can be forced into a position he will be instructed to intercept it, if possible.

The armies cannot keep up the struggle much longer, and unless one side obtains a decided advantage we shall see stalemate. The final outcome of the war can be won only by the side which is able to bring up absolutely fresh forces which have not felt the strain of two months of continuous fighting."

The modern battle is something never known before. The troops are under fire sometimes for days. If they escape, the rifles and machine guns they are with, because of the dead, are strapped and they are too far off for them to come under the range of the howitzers and siege guns. One may be under fire anywhere within miles of the enemy."

"Officers from the front declare that the Germans are more formidable adversaries when on the defensive than when advancing in an attack. They dig themselves in extremely well and they figure mathematically every move, marking their fire deadly, while field artillery finds the target with precision."

"It is worth noting that officers from the front universally lament the absence of the Canadian club at the head of the front. They say the official bulletins only convey an impression of the tremendous scale of war operations, while the soldiers' stories with their wives from the front do not give the distorted and often incorrect idea of what is going on."

PRUSSIAN GUARD IS CUT TO PIECES SAY BORDEAUX REPORTS

Bordeaux, Sept. 28.—(4 p.m.)—According to reports dispatched from the front, the Prussian guard has been cut to pieces during the fighting of the last two days. The strength of the guard has been reduced from 250 to 100 men. Virtually all the original officers of the guard have been killed or wounded and two battalions have been annihilated.

Those who heard Herbert B. Ames, M.P., honorary secretary of the Canadian patriotic fund, in his address at the meeting of the Canadian club at luncheon Monday noon in the Empire hotel, and there was a very representative gathering of business and professional men to the number of about 200, left with the same general idea that the lack of knowledge that may have existed in the city regarding the inner workings of the fund, was altogether made clear by his speech.

When it was first announced at Ottawa that a Canadian branch of the organization of the fund in Canada, hundreds of emigrants were received as to the fact, to the entire satisfaction of the branch, and it became difficult to answer the many questions asked, especially those which came from the west, where conditions are so different from those of the east. It was this that led to the formation of that branch at Ottawa.

The funds collected become the property of the Canadian branch, which are placed in the bank here. It is proposed that on the 15th of the month a statement or request could be sent to the head branch asking that so much of the funds be released to the west, to meet the requirements, and at the end of the month a statement sent in showing how many families and to what the same battle. In the same line and uses it had been spent. In this way a systematic record of the relief work could be kept. If this proviso should raise more money than required, the balance might go to the assistance of another community where there was no branch. The amount of the balance would call at the house of the department and get a report. If the amount were sufficient, then see how many committees could be formed. Mr. Ames suggested that the work of the committee be divided among three committees, namely: finance, relief and organization.

The speaker emphasized the fact that the Canadian patriotic fund was not a charity. "The option," said Mr. Ames, "has been given to every Canadian citizen to fight. If he doesn't fight, he wants to make sure that there is not a family living from the Atlantic to the Pacific that is not living in a decent home."

If the war were to come to an end before long and it were found that there were funds that had not been used, these funds could be used to provide for the disabled, widows and the widows."

He said that in Montreal it had been found that a wife with three children of the ages twelve, eight and two, it would be up to the local branch to look into local conditions and decide a reasonable allowance that the family might receive.

He said that the amount would be deducted the 28th per month by the government and also any other revenue that there might be in any family.

Twice a month the government check would be received. In rare cases, such as sickness or extreme need, additional allowances might be made. A day or two before the check was due, the office would call at the house of the department and get a report. If the amount were sufficient, then see how many committees could be formed. DELIGHTFUL COMEDY AT LYCEUM THIS WEEK

In "Sunday" and the Boys," he is presented by the Lyceum Players this week. The author of the play, who is also a well-known novelist, has raised by two inches out in the great northwest. She has never been educated except by the boys, but she can now hold her own the mountain long after four days.

The original New Orleans Creole orchestra will satisfy the music pleasure. The names of the girls who sing, and each girl has a pleasing personality. The music contains some of the tuneful melody success of the past season and the time her rise in the profession has been sensational. She is pretty, has a wonderful personality and a most pleasing voice. Guy Rawson seems to keep an important position in the tabloid, entitled "Yesterday's," a delightful story of life. It is presented by Frances Clare and it promises to be a success.

With their little girl friends

"The Great Harbors" will be seen in "Sunday" and the Boys," while Miss Campbell and Neimier will present an eccentric melange of singing and dancing.

Arthur Whistler, the Irish character, will be seen in a clever monologue.

The "Warwick Chronicle," manufactured in England, shown in motion pictures never before seen in the present struggle with particular reference to England are also exhibited on this program.

CITIZENS POPULAR BAND CONCERTS

The Sunday evening concerts given by the Citizens Popular Band are very popular. The concert Sunday evening was well patronized. Among the most popular numbers were "I Trovatore," "La Boheme," "A Sicilian Song" and "Jackie." They kept their secret and when his brother comes in search of him, the truth finally has to come out. Sunday is sent to England to school and

What the Theater Press Agents Say"ARE YOU A MASON?"

BY "THE PLAYERS"

Somewhere about 2718th presentation of "Are You a Mason?" will hold the boards at the Empire theater here, commencing Tuesday, October 1st. The play, with a slender, spindly account of themselves in the stampede comedy. A larger cast will be employed than in "The Amazons." The plot is fast and furious, and there are many scenes of action. The cast includes the cast. Norah, an Irish cook, played by Miss Templeton, a broken down "legit" actor, a stockbroker, a passing Englishman, a fat man and a fat woman. Those who have stated that their absences from home are caused by their devotion to the work of the Lodge of the Royal Acoustics, may help to explain the fat going. Neither of the men, claiming to be masons know anything about the fraternity beyond what they have learned in an encyclopedic fashion. The frantic efforts of the women to win the boys to a masculine friend, and to each other, causes laughter and amusement from the rise of the first curtain to the fall of the last. A full scenic equipment has been provided by Director Theodore Johnston.

PANTAGES PROMISES CRACKER-JACK SHOW.

Pantages theater offers a good all round show this week. Winnipeg audiences clashed it as the best all round bill that ever came to town, and it promises to be a success. The girls are the stars, with their little girl friends. Frances Clare is no stranger to vaudeville patrons. She made her debut on the stage in the original cast of the schoolroom activities of the women and men who have been so successful in the past. Since the time her rise in the profession has been sensational. She is pretty, has a wonderful personality and a most pleasing voice. Guy Rawson seems to keep an important position in the tabloid, entitled "Yesterday's," a delightful story of life. It is presented by Frances Clare and it promises to be a success.

The Father's Scrapbook" is the title of another of the pictures that will be shown. The plot is described as follows: It is a drama that has a moral to it, and this will make the picture all the more appreciated. Caught in a trap, the father believes his son would be able to re-adjust the wrongs, blames his scapegoat son for a crime he himself had committed. It results in sparing the son on into a successful life, and with it comes the return of his good name.

FIRST OF NEW FILMS ALREADY AT BIJOU

Lyceum Players Present for First Time Here, the Charming Comedy Drama

"Yesterday's," a delightful comedy of manners, will be shown Monday and Tuesday the first of the special big feature films announced in these columns last week for this theater. It was the first film to be shown here, and we are fortunate to be so early to furnish our patrons the first of these master-piece productions, but, through the use of the wires, it was found possible to procure one and so it happened.

The "Idle Rich" is the title of the film. The plot is related as follows: The hero repels and repels the wrongs and vice with which this wealthy, inactive stratum of society pollutes him. The wife of the victim of the plot is highly dressed, and the different episodes are all treated with great care to detail for polished presentation.

It will be remembered that those pictures of which the above is one, are manufactured by feature producing companies and, therefore, can be expected to be exacting in the quality of standard pieces ordinarily presented.

The "Warwick Chronicle," manufactured in England, shown in motion pictures never before seen in the present struggle with particular reference to England are also exhibited on this program.

THE REASON:—Our immense stock of Fall Suitings was purchased from England before the War was ever thought of. THE RESULT:—Every man can now reap the benefit of our loss—for our stock must be lowered, and in such a way that will be consistent with Hard Times. Never before in the history of Edmonton has such a sensational offer ever been made. Think of it!—MADE TO MEASURE $17.50.

YOU'LL NEED A NEW FALL SUIT OR OVERCOAT

REMEMBER THIS OFFER FOR ONE WEEK ONLY

We cannot emphasize too strongly the unmistakable High-Class Tailoring and the painstaking workmanship put into our Suits and Overcoats.

SHIP DEAD BEHIND FORCE TO PREVENT OUTBREAK DISEASE

Stated Germans Have Not Time to Bury Their Dead in France.

TEUTONS CHANGE TACTICS AND FIGHT HAND TO HAND

Stated Joffre Pushed Men Inside of Terrible Teuton Guns.

Paris, Sept. 25. (6:02 a.m.)—The prolongation of the tension on the two long lines of fire and death from the Alpine heights still continues, but we become increasingly aware to the Germans says a report which indicate that they have changed their tactics and attacked with the bayonet. The report also says that General Joffre's terrible hand is shown in this, as it is believed he has succeeded in pushing his lines inside the range of the dead Germans and forced the enemy to hand to hand fighting.

Since the attacks have been repulsed by the soldiers of the Alpine heights, the military experts here cannot see now what resources the Germans can call on to renew their forces.

The Main Report says that the Germans are attacking the British lines from the left were not from the German side, but part of the British detachment after Joffre had been repulsed.

The battle has been fought back and forth now but now brought back in haste. The general opinion is that the battle has resulted in the most critical phase, as well as the most violent and that the issue cannot be decided much longer.

The losses of the last few days on both sides are said to exceed all others since the beginning of the war, but we have reached from Belgium that the Germans, unable to bury their dead on the field, have shipped them behind the army by trainload in order to avoid epidemics.

SUPREMACY ON THE SEA EMINENTLY WORTH WHILE.

Wheat is Britain's staple food. Other countries in Europe eat rye, but Britain's food situation at all times spells wheat.

Of the 229,500,000 bushels of wheat, in grain and in flour, imported by Great Britain last year, 131,700,000 came from United States and Canada. Canadians claim that 91,000,000 of this was of Canadian origin, but as much of it goes via United States winter ports—Portland, Me., particularly—the British trade returns show only 51,786,000 bushels to Canada's credit. The balance of Britain's wheat importation is made up of 35,000,000 from India, 28,000,000 from Argentina, 20,000,000 from Australia and about 10,000,000 from Russia, with the remainder made up from nine or ten other countries, of which Germany leads with about 2,000,000 bushels.

In the making of the total, those countries involved in the war or immediately affected thereby in such a way that importations may not be expected therefrom, are comparatively insignificant shippers. Austria-Hungary, Turkey, France and Bulgaria together do not contribute more than a million and a quarter bushels to Britain's wheat importation. Germany, although an exporter of wheat to Britain, is also a large importer of rye from Russia. Canada, on the other hand, besides what she sends to Britain, exports to other countries—which means mostly to Continental Europe—12 million bushels of wheat annually.

In other words, with Britain in command of the seas, and presuming that Russian, German, French, Hungarian, Turkish and Roumanian wheat were closed off, Canada would come within a very few million bushels of making up the difference by simply deflecting her "other country" shipments to Britain.

As Britain herself grows 65 million bushels per annum, in which there is always some elasticity—as every farmer knows who has swept his grainery to get the last kernel into a hull market—there is no danger whatever of Britain being unable to get the wheat so long as she controls the sea.

In the meantime, Britain's export business is going forward much as usual. She loses the continental market and the over-seas market is undoubtedly curtailed to quite an extent by the war, but whatever markets there are, are open to her, and out of these exports and the interest on her foreign investments, she pays for her wheat. In fact, even in face of the war and the high price of produce, the balance on exchange between Britain and United States—the heaviest exporter of food products to Britain—is very largely in Britain's favor. It is to make this balance payable in Canada instead of in London, (thus obviating the risk), that the American banks have on deposit at Ottawa at the present moment something like $20,000,000 in gold.

Germany, at the same time, is up against an entirely different species of proposition. She is now spending, at the best estimates, something like $20,000,000 a day on her side of the war expense. All the gold reserves in the world stacked together could not stand this steady drain very long; but Germany is in the position that she must buy what she requires largely with gold. Her export trade has collapsed absolutely. With nothing going out, she has no balances coming to her from other countries with which to pay for what she requires from abroad, even were her ports open to receive it. Her home industries are at a standstill, except for the manufacturers working on war material. With Germany's industrial payroll stopped, the nation must feed the unemployed or permit them to starve—which they will not do quietly. The total bill, therefore, must soon fall upon the nation. Last year, on all counts, Germany imported for food about $800,000,000 worth. This is what she would need this year if she could get it. Adding this to the $20,000,000 a day she is spending and taking into consideration the circumstance that Germany, in the very nature of things, cannot this autumn put in her fall wheat, Germany is "broke" right now, should the war stop tomorrow. With her ports closed, and an embargo along the Russian frontier, she will soon be starving as well.

SUPREMACY ON THE SEA, IT APPEARS, IS EMINENTLY WORTH WHILE.

AN ANSWER WHICH MAY BE WIG-WAGGED
FROM THE FERRY ON THE STYX.

There are estimated to be somewhere in the neighborhood of ten million men in the field in Europe. Upon the specious plea of patriotism the great mass of these men have been arbitrarily taken from useful toil where they might have been producing comforts and luxuries for themselves and turned to destruction. At the rate of probably ten thousand a day, or more, they are shooting away each others' lives and at the rate of probably fifty million dollars a day they are burning up wealth which they have created. Owing to a militarist system which has been imposed upon them, the lives of many millions of these soldiers are not their own. Only those who are engaged in the attempt to break up this militarist system are controllers of their own destiny to the meagre extent of saying whether they shall or shall not enter the ranks. The wealth which they are burning up represents the product of the labor of themselves and neighbors. Most of it has been seized from them long since and applied to a purpose which gets them nothing but misery, penury and death. Against this systematic seizure they have been powerless. A medieval outrage which has persisted in the face of progress has willed it so; and the millions must obey.

But what would happen should there arise among the marching millions some clear visioned man capable of making plain the truth that this untold wealth which they are burning up represents the unrequited labor of their own calloused hands; the products of their toil, seized from them by ghoulish despots who seek only to waste and plunder and destroy?

Divine monarchs may be able to answer this out of the pain-filled sum of their own experience before long—but the answer may be waved back from the ferry on the Styx.

Delevan's comet is heading for Alberta at the rate of 1,215,384 miles a day. The management must have received a wireless concerning the farming advantages of this province.

THE DAY

(The author of this magnificent poem is Henry Chappell, a railway porter at Bath, England. Mr. Chappell is known to his comrades as "the Bath Railways Poet.")

You boasted the Day, and you boasted the Day.

And now the Day has come.

Blasphemous, braggar and coward all,

Till you reck of the naming hall,

The blushing shell, or the "white arm's"

fall,

As they speed poor humans home.

You spied for the Day, you lied for the Day,

And woke the Day's red spleen.

Monstrous, who naked God's old Divine,

Then struck his seas with the ghastly mine,

Not all the waters of all the Rhine

Can wash thy foul hands clean.

You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day;

Watch how the Day will go,

By layer of age and youth and prime,

Watch how the stain for never a crime!

Thou art sleepless in blood as a hog in alme,

False friend and cowardly foe,

You have sown; for the Day, you have grown for the Day;

Yours is the Harvest, dead,

Thy mother the grounds and the awf crisis,

Can you see the heap of slain that lies,

And sightless turned to the flame-split skies,

The glassy eyes of the dead?

You have wronged for the Day, you have longed for the Day;

That's the awful flame,

To the shovels you that hill and plain yield shovels of shovels dead men amid the grain;

That widows mourn for their loved ones slain,

And mothers curse thy name.

But after the Day there's a price to pay,

Foolish sleepers under the sod,

And He you mocked for many a day—

Listen, and hear what He has to say:

"What can you say to God?"

NEW ZEALAND WELL PLEASED WITH DISTRICT

That settlers who come to the Edmonton district are more than pleased with conditions, land and everything else, was evident when John Hoden, minister of agriculture of New Zealand, visited the offices of the city industrial commissioner and told him he was getting along.

Mr. Hoden got into communication with the industrial commissioner several months ago in regard to coming to Alberta. He was supplied with a wealth of information, and arrived in Edmonton less than a month ago. He brought a large party of New Zealanders east of the city, and immediately began to stock it and prepare for next season's crop. In fact, the crop of this year was purchased by him along with the lumber and supplies which have been worked a number of years.

He told J. L. Porte, agricultural assistant to George M. Hall, that he was more than pleased. He was also surprised to find that the price of land which was asked to pay for the various articles he needed, and he came in for the express purpose of getting further information from the department. While in the building of a house on his farm, as he expects to be married shortly and his wife intended is now on her way from New Zealand, Mr. Porte states that this man alone has spent upwards of $100,000 in the immediate vicinity of the city hall and town hall, and that it is but one case of a hundred that have similar stories to tell.

A PROPHETIC

This is a revelation of events of a universal character, which must shortly come to pass. Their spiritual outlines are now before my eyes. I see floating upon the surface of the sea of human fate the huge silhouette of a nude woman. She is—with her beauty, her poise, her smile, her jewels—a super-Venus. Nations rush madly after her, each of them eager to attract her especially. But she, like an eternal courtesan, flirts with all. In her hair ornaments of diamonds and rubies is engraved her name, "Commercialism." As alluring and as bewitching as she seems, much destruction and agony follow in her wake.

"And behold, she has three gigantic arms with three torches of universal corruption in her hand. The first torch represents the flame of war, the second torch bears the flame of bigotry and hypocrisy, and the third torch is that of the law.

"The great conflagration will start about 1912, set by the torch of the first arm in the countries of Southeastern Europe. It will develop into a destructive calamity in 1913. In that year I see all Europe in flames and bleeding. I hear the lamentations of huge battlefields. But about the year 1915 a strange figure from the North—a new Napoleon—enters the stage of the bloody drama. He is a man of little military training, a writer or journalist, but in his grip most of Europe will remain till 1925.

"The end of the great calamity will mark a new political era for the old world. There will be left no empires or kingdoms, but the world will form a federation of the United States of Nations. There will remain only four great giants—the Anglo-Saxons, the Latins, the Slavs and the Mongolians."

OPENING FOOTBALL GAME AROUSING MUCH INTEREST

Varsity and Civics Will be the Contestants—Both Teams Are Practicing Hard and Faithfully and Should Provide An Interesting Contest.

A good start should be made by the Edmonton city rugby league next Saturday when Varsity and the Civics will meet in their first game. The Civics have been practicing faithfully for the past week or so, and expect to do considerably well during this week.

The Civics have about 29 men on strength, and they were put through a stiff drill by Deacon White, who is quite satisfied with the material he has to work with. The gratifying feature is that the boys are working hard and can't get too much of it.

Blades and English look like end men while McLaren and Whitelaw are a good pair of quarter backs. A large bunch is fighting for places on the line.

It is expected that there will be a larger turnout today as the Civic and other amateur sportsmen than the well-known basketball and baseball players have signified their intention of trying for places. Practices will be held every night this week.

For some years the American football authorities have admitted that the Canadian game in some respects is superior to the American style. Recently a number of Canadian players were invited to visit one of the big American colleges to give tips on the Canadian game. Apparently it leaked out that the American officials might have no advantage over them other colleges adopted the idea, the result being that several invitations were given and accepted. Several leading players from Toronto and Hamilton took seats across the line, and they also appear to be out of it. Apparently it is in accordance with this program that Ritter of Regina has gone to his old alma mater, Princeton, to coach.

The system of handicapping is in vogue at many athletic meets but has been bandied a lot of criticism lately. It brings out the best in the contestants, are all set in such a manner that it is often practically impossible for the scratch man to win. George Goulding, the Canadian champion walker, and one of the best in the world, believes that this form of sport has stated that he may give up the game for that reason. No matter how hard he tries and notwithstanding the fact that he has the best odds it is impossible to win a race. The main trouble with handicapping is that in the majority of cases those who fix the handicap do not know the true running capabilities of each contestant.

Although as yet there has been little talk of holding a meeting for the winter, eastern enthusiasts have been getting busy and making arrangements for the great winter pastime. It was announced several days ago that the Yale hockey team will visit some of the eastern cities this winter, and it is probable that the Princeton seven will also cross the border.

Interest in the international competition is always interesting, and should help to keep the game alive.

Walter E. Maraville, the diminutive shortstop of the Boston Braves, is engaged to be married, his future wife being Anna Elizabeth R. St. John of Springfield. The marriage will take place after the baseball season is finished.

The Detroit Tigers have secured a new outfielder in the person of "Doll" Jacobson from the Indianapolis Indians. He was recently adjudged the most valuable player in that league, and sometime ago won the Rose trophy, the condition of which was similar to that of the Southern League.

Jacobson led the Southern league in hitting, connecting for a total of .317.

Playing in every game his team participated in, he also had a .317 average and ended his day pass a day.

Interest in the National league races has died away, as New York is now hopelessly entangled and has no chance of winning the prize money.

For a short time it appeared that the Boston Red Sox might possibly overhaul the Athletics in the American league, but they received a severe setback on Saturday, and they also appear to be out of it. Apparently it is in accordance with this program that Ritter of Regina has gone to his old alma mater, Princeton, to coach.
